

The Nordic-American Life Science Conference

CONNECTING HEALTHCARE INNOVATION, INVESTORS AND INDUSTRY
DECEMBER 1, 2016 - NEW YORK

The Nordic-American Life Science Conference is an investment and partnering conference gathering healthcare technology executives and investors from the Nordic countries (Sweden, Norway, Finland and Denmark) and North America.

The conference connects promising, innovative healthcare technology companies and Nordic Life Science organizations with investors, external innovation scouts and business developers in the U.S.

The target audience includes Pharma/Biotech, Diagnostics, Medtech and Digital Health.

The conference offers:

- Company pitches to investors & industry executives
- One-on-one meetings
- A company profile visible to all participants
- Investor and partnering panel discussions

Pre-conference Workshop for Nordic companies:

On November 30, a Pre-Conference Workshop will be held exclusively for the attending Nordic companies.

Previous Conferences: The Nordic-American Life Science Conference in New York is a U.S. expansion of an annual Nordic Life Science conference held for 10 years in Europe and gathering around 180 people, including 30 investors and business development executives and hosting 400 one-on-one meetings.
